REJUVENATION OF THE VICTOR DAITZ INFORMATION GATEWAY

The Victor Daitz Chair in HIV/TB Research is pleased to announce the rejuvenation of the 'Victor Daitz Information Gateway'.

The Gateway, which will be hosted by the University of KwaZulu-Natal, will take the form of a web-based information portal which will host a collection of the latest scientific literature on HIV/AIDS and TB research, with a specific focus on clinical and basic science research.

The Gateway will also enable electronic access to a selection of reputable journals relevant to HIV/AIDS and TB research (including Science, Nature, Journal of Virology, and Infection and Immunity) through the University library system.

'Open Access' Support for UKZN Researchers

As part of the Gateway initiative, the Victor Daitz Chair in HIV/TB Research wishes to provide support to UKZN HIV and TB researchers publishing in Open Access journals. UKZN researchers, publishing basic science and/or clinical research in HIV/AIDS and TB, who have had a manuscript accepted in an Open Access journal with an ISI impact factor of 5 and above, are therefore invited to apply to the Gateway for financial support to publish in an Open Access journal.

Interested persons should email (1) the abstract, and (2) a letter from the scientific journal, confirming acceptance of their manuscript for publication in an Open Access journal, to Ms Tarryn Leslie <Leslie@ukzn.ac.za>, Ext. 4763.

Ten articles per year will be selected for support through this initiative.
